

BALDWIN TELLS HOUSE HE HOPES TO MAKE NEW STATEMENT ABOUT KING-SIMPSON AFFAIR TOMORROW

Prime Minister Inferentially Asked for Another 24-Hour Respite for Committee, Himself and the Government—In Reply to Attlee—Anxiety Continues and Increases.

By David Sentner
L. N. S. Staff Correspondent
LONDON, England, Dec. 9—Indicating he expects overnight developments, in the constitutional crisis arising from King Edward's plans to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin told the House of Commons today he hopes to make a new statement tomorrow.

The Prime Minister inferentially asked for another 24 hour respite for the committee, for himself and for the government, when Clement Attlee, Laborite leader in the House asked:

"Can the Premier say whether he is now in a position to add anything to the statement made to the House on Monday?"

"I regret," Baldwin replied, "I am not in a position to add anything today, but I hope to make a statement tomorrow."

"May I ask," persisted Attlee, "whether the Premier can give us good hopes of a statement tomorrow, as anxiety is continuing and increasing?"

"I can assure Mr. Attlee and the House no one realizes that more than I do."

LONDON, Dec. 9—(INS)—Hope rode high throughout the British Empire today that King Edward would choose to remain upon his throne and withdraw his desire for a morganatic marriage with Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

But despite the cheerful tone of the press and official intimations he will not abdicate, the nation and dominions remained on tenterhooks awaiting announcement of the King's final decision.

The feeling in all quarters was that until a definite statement has been made one way or the other, the severe case of Imperial jitters springing from fears of his abdication cannot possibly be dispelled.

The news, whatever it may be, is again confidently expected within 48 hours at the maximum.

It may come today. Clement Attlee, Laborite leader, is scheduled to present his sixth question on the marriage crisis to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in the House of Commons this afternoon.

But whether it will be answered today or the reply deferred until tomorrow remains to be seen.

The dramatic five-hour conference last night between the King and Baldwin at Fort Belvedere, attended by several members of the royal family, ended two hours before midnight with strong indications a final answer had been conveyed to the Premier and that the present status of the matter is one of adjusting details.

A report circulating here said one of the points discussed in the last few days concerned a formula whereby King Edward would be permitted to see Mrs. Simpson when he desired, provided such meetings were held outside of England.

Another report said there was considerable discussion over the question of revenues—chiefly whether the $500,000 or more a year accruing from the income of the King's Duchy of Cornwall would continue to belong to him regardless of circumstances.

In any case, financial experts believe, Parliament, in event of abdication, would be obligated to accord the sovereign huge grants to ensure that his own personal fortune—variously estimated at from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 plus the royal estate of Sandringham and Balmoral—would not have to be touched.

Despite the cheerful tone of the press, pessimists pointed out today that if it were merely a simple question of the King choosing between marriage to Mrs. Simpson and renouncing her to retain his throne in accordance with the wishes of his government—why all the present hectic consultations?

Nicholas Caputa, Market Street, Dies in New Jersey

Nicholas Caputa, 63, of 318 Market street, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Barlow, Moorestown, N. J., last evening at 10 o'clock. Born in Italy, he had come to the United States after his marriage, and had since that time made his home in Bristol. The deceased was the husband of the late Mary Caputa.

Two daughters and one son survive Mr. Caputa, namely: Mrs. Barlow, Moorestown; Mrs. Joseph Greco, Philadelphia; and Peter Caputa, 318 Market street.

The body has been brought to Bristol, and funeral will be held here Saturday morning with the H. S. Rue Estate in charge.

Truck Lands On Its Side. Axle Breaks at Tullytown

TULLYTOWN, Dec. 9—A large truck, landing on its side after the front axle broke this morning, delayed traffic on Main street here.

The truck, owned by the Royal Motor Company, Trenton, N. J., was enroute toward Philadelphia. The driver, who was shaken up by the impact, states that when the axle broke he attempted to avoid striking a tree, and in so doing the heavy machine overturned on its side, across the thoroughfare.

A cargo of dolls was badly damaged, many of these being broken. The entire vehicle was badly wrecked.

The accident occurred at 7.20, and for approximately two hours automobiles were forced to make their way across the public school grounds in order to traverse the route.

FARMHAND DIES OF INJURIES

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 9—(INS)—Willis Meyers, 16, a farmhand at Deep Run, eight miles north of here, was dead today from injuries received when his foot caught in the belt of a fodder cutting machine. The boy was thrown three times to the barn floor. He died several hours later.

STEADY RAIN BENEFITS RESIDENTS OF COUNTY

Water Shortage Was Noted Throughout Bucks and Many Parts of State

GRAINS SUFFERED

Great benefit was derived from the rain at the beginning of the week, throughout Bucks County, according to county farm agent, William F. Greenawalt, Doylestown.

A water shortage has been experienced in many sections of the county during the past few weeks, and temporary relief has been provided by the long rain of Sunday. It is said. The state as a whole was greatly benefited.

In many sections it was necessary for the farmers to haul water long distances for their cattle, much of this having been procured from creeks. Some farmers needing water for household consumption were compelled to depend upon neighbors for their supply. Generally this water was gotten from artesian wells. Mr. Greenawalt said on Monday morning that even some of the shallow artesian wells were beginning to show the effects of the drought.

Many wells and cisterns, especially in the upper part of the county, were exhausted of their water supply.

In addition to replenishing the wells and cisterns, the rain over the weekend was very beneficial to the fall grains and grasses. In some places where it was extremely dry the grain was getting off color, it turning from a dark green to a yellow brown. With the good supply of moisture received through the rain it is expected the grain will return to its normal color.

Some spinach, Mr. Greenawalt said, is being left out during the winter, but it is not believed the rain will do it much good.

Evergreens have also been suffering as the result of the drought and Mr. Greenawalt said they will be benefitted to a great extent.

The rain over the week-end will also provide people in the rural sections with better fire protection. During a fire in the upper part of the county

L. T. L. GIVES PROGRAM AT W. C. T. U. SESSION

Mrs. Elsie Nixon, Newtown, Scheduled Speaker, Unable To Attend Meeting

HEAR SEVERAL REPORTS

As the expected speaker, Mrs. Elsie Nixon, Newtown, county president, was prevented from attending the Bristol W. C. T. U. meeting last evening, a program was presented by the Loyal Temperance Legion, at the conclusion of the devotional service. The devotions, appropriate to the Christmas season, were conducted by Mrs. Ada B. Sands, and followed the business meeting.

One group of children gave a clever sketch in which the old woman who lived in a shoe called out her children, representing Mother Goose characters, who gave their L. T. L. songs and slogans. Another group gave songs, recitations and readings. Mrs. Florence Beswick, in charge of the Youth Temperance Council, reported that in a recent recitation contest at Yardley, Mary Yates, of this borough, was awarded the medal.

Miss Anna Heritage told of the recent

KNOW YOUR STATE

How We Are Housed

(Prepared for The Courier by F. A. Pitkin, Director, State Planning Board)

In Pennsylvania, more than in most parts of the United States, it is still the custom for a family to occupy a house all by itself. In 1930 nearly 83 per cent of the houses in the State were single dwelling units, but in the recent years there has been much doubling up of two or more families in one house.

At least half of the dwelling houses in the State are more than thirty years old. Many of these, even in cities, have no plumbing facilities or sewer connections. In our largest city there are certain slum areas where a recent study showed that nearly half the

MORRISVILLE COUNCIL BATTLES WATER QUESTION

Stockham Urges Council To Plan for Adequate and Pure Supply

NO ACTION TAKEN

MORRISVILLE, Dec. 9—Official laboratory tests of specimens of Morrisville drinking water, made at the Wayne Laboratories, at Waynesboro, disclosed that samples taken approximately 10 days ago were heavily infested with bacilli coli, disease carrying germ.

It was reported, however, that tests being performed on specimens taken on Monday had, up until late last night, failed to reveal any trace of the poisonous bacilli. When the condition of the water was learned by borough officials, immediate steps were taken at the filtration plant to increase the chlorination of the water to offset the dangers of the bacilli.

Councilman John B. Sumner, chairman of the water committee, reported that I. M. Glace, of Harrisburg, consulting engineer, had visited the filtration works on Monday and at that time declared himself certain the added chlorine in the water had equalized the bacilli action.

Sumner, admitting to the foibles of a layman in discussing chemical secrets, opened the water supply discussion at a meeting of council last night by passing on to his fellow councilmen a store of knowledge he gleaned from Engineer Glace and others about the presence of the bacilli coli in the water; molecular action in filtration; chlorination and the ability of ammonia to destroy the taste of chlorine.

"I think we have done everything possible to clear up the situation," Councilman Sumner said. He then went on to outline the corrective measures taken. He denied that council had attempted to conceal any information concerning the water or to minimize the danger. He lamented that it was "10 or 12 days before we knew anything about it."

As a result of having chemical analyses made at a distance from Morrisville much time was wasted, Sumner asserted, and council passed a motion

FIRE THREATENS MILL STREET BUSINESS SECTION; FOUR FLEE FROM SLEEPING QUARTERS IN SCANTY ATTIRE

Blaze Damages Store and Stock of M. Spector—Flames Due To Overheated Chimney Which Ignites Shelving in Main Store Room—Firemen at Scene for Two and One-Half Hours—Flames Confined to Store by Clever Fire Fighting

Fire early today threatened serious damage in the closely-built business district of Mill street when a blaze was discovered in the store of M. Spector 229 Mill street. Three alarms were sounded and the firemen by good work kept the flames confined to a small area in the front portion of the store. The damage is estimated by Chief Hagerman at approximately $2,000, although he stated he had not had much time to check the actual loss to the stock. Mr. Spector stated he did not know what the loss would amount to. The firemen were at the scene for two and one-half hours.

The four members of the Spector family made a hasty exit from their sleeping quarters in scanty attire, the flames being discovered at about two o'clock.

The blaze is believed to have originated from an overheated chimney. This set fire to a rafter and the flames spread to shelving around the chimney in the store. The store was heavily stocked, and great clouds of smoke poured into Mill street. Residents in the vicinity were alarmed and thought for a time that the flames would surely spread to nearby properties.

The firemen placed the booster apparatus directly in front of the premises and hose lines were laid from three hydrants and chemical lines brought into service. It was only necessary to use the large water lines for a few minutes before the flames were checked. This was due to the advantageous points from which the firemen fought the flames. One line was taken through the front door, while another was taken through a window in a side alley. This placed the streams directly upon the flames and checked them.

Firemen had difficulty in entering the store as it is very heavily stocked for the holidays, and the passageways between the piles of clothing and gents furnishings are narrow.

Mr. Spector has been in business in Bristol for 40 years. He and his wife and two sons were asleep on the second floor above the store when one of the sons was aroused and smelled smoke. He, in turn, awakened the other members of the family who hastily dressed and made their way out of the building.

The Spector building is brick, with a one-story addition in the rear. A large open stairway leads from the second floor down into the rear portion of the house. All of the flames and smoke were confined to the store. The stock was considerably damaged by smoke and water.

The interior of the store this morning was a mass of smoked and water-soaked wearing apparel, scattered in piles upon the floor. Firemen were able to cover some of the stock with tarpaulins.

All of the shelving about the chimney was burned, but there the flames were checked.

SENTENCED TO PRISON; GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Charles Thomas, 36-Year-Old Negro, Involved in Case Where Woman Met Death

BRISTOLIAN IS PAROLED

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 9—Convicted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, Charles Thomas, 36, a negro, was sentenced by Judge Calvin S. Boyer to from four months to four years in Bucks County prison. The case involved the automobile accident in which Maudie Paige Stewart was killed on Labor Day.

The convicted man, it was shown, was the driver of an automobile which barely missed overturning a machine operated by Mrs. Emma P. Stover. Thomas was sentenced also to pay the costs of the case. Judge Boyer said to Thomas who left the scene of the accident, near Edison: "We agree entirely with the jury. In the opinions of the Court you had two independent accidents. Both accidents were inexcusable."

ANNOYANCE INVITED

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have suffered a great deal from public curiosity regarding themselves, which so often has been expressed impertinently in the prying activities of certain newspapers and news services. Yet it must be said of the famed pair that they never have learned that the best weapon against this easily surfeited curiosity is to avoid mystery and to meet legitimate demands as cheerfully and fully as convenience will allow.

Colonel Lindbergh's recent "disappearance" in England, where he went, incidentally, to escape journalistic attentions, is certainly a case in point. He set off unaccompanied in his plane on a flight to a known destination across the Irish Sea. When he failed to arrive, newspapermen were aroused by the evident possibility that he might have met with accident. Yet phoned inquiries to his residence elicited only the rather curt assurance that the flier in fact was quite safe and that doubts to the contrary were "silly."

From the standpoint of the inquirers, the anxiety they expressed obviously was far from silly. Moreover, the reply given was such as to whet, rather than appease public curiosity regarding the Colonel's no doubt innocent and truly unmythical movements. In this instance, as in many others, the Lindberghs could have saved themselves much annoyance, if they had been better advised in the ways above-mentioned.

AGAINST ALL THREE

"Under Fascism, Nazism and Communism, political differences of opinion are held to be treason," reads part of a resolution adopted by the American Federation of Labor at Tampa. Continuing, it says: "The world has witnessed the political assassinations and the so-called judicial verdicts by which those in opposition are done away with. The examples are recent and impressive."

This is not new, but it is a truth which needs constant restatement. Here in America we have become accustomed to hear denunciations of Communism coupled with defense of Fascism; and to hear Fascism and Nazism condemned by apologists for Communism. The A. F. of L. resolution fairly and intelligently classes together all three forms of dictatorship.

In view of labor's known hostility to Fascism in its various forms, especial interest attaches to the Tampa resolution's equally forthright condemnation of Communism.

"Where Communism is in control, differences of political opinion and opposition to the administration are not tolerated. Only recently outstanding leaders in the Bolshevik revolution were charged with treason for doing what is every American's right. They were found guilty and executed as a warning to others that there can be but one political party under a dictatorship and opposition to it means death."

Four million untouchables in the Indian state of Travancore have been relieved of the stigma. And thereafter may be hit for a five spot till pay day, like anybody.

How about a compromise, permitting the investment of foreign funds in our securities, on condition that any winnings are applied to the debt?

Christmas Comes But Once A Year Thank Goodness!

Are you one of the flustered, frantic last-minuteers who would echo this postscript? In the midst of tinsel and trees and tying-up, do you furtively wish that Christmas presents had never been thought of?

Don't let the rush of Christmas spoil its real joy. Try this sensible shopping suggestion.

Lower yourself to the depths of your most comfortable chair, and study your favorite newspaper—just as you're doing now. Here, merchants and manufacturers display their nicest wares. Their samples are neatly packaged between pages. You can make your choice, calmly, carefully, unhurriedly. Then you know what you want, where you can get it, how much you need pay. There is a grand selection of gifts, right in this paper. Start now—you'll save time and much fuss. And you'll bless us for your Merry Christmas Shopping.

Christie had told Donald Latham the whole story—and now she slept and mercifully forgot.

that she was still weeping. Quietly now, but steadily. The tears poured down her cheeks and splashed to the already drenched pillow.

He spoke to her, but she turned her head away.

It came to her finally that he was talking about her father. He had had Adolphus in those wasted days when she was away from him. He had taken care of him all that last illness. He might be going to tell her something that she didn't know—some last word, some last message—

"It wouldn't be fair to want him back," he was saying. "He was an old, old man. If he had lived he would have been an invalid, and you wouldn't want that for him. He would have hated it so. It's a blessing when a man who has been active and as vital as your father can, without having to suffer helplessness—

Come, now, you mustn't cry any more. He wouldn't want it. Here—take my handkerchief—"

She pushed it away. Buried her poor, distorted face in the sudden pillow. Dad, so lately dead, and she so forgetful of him. Not even able to keep her mind on what Doctor Latham was saying. So wrapped up in her own selfish grief. And now taking sympathy she didn't deserve—

"I know how much you meant to each other, but really, it isn't right for you to—"

KNOW YOUR STATE

be a constant danger to the health of the inhabitants.

Bad housing is frequently one of the factors to which bad health may be traced. A study made recently in Pittsburgh showed that tuberculosis occurs most widely among persons who live doubled up or crowded into rooms without adequate light, air, or plumbing facilities.

In 1930 Pennsylvania had 2,235,620 occupied houses and apartments (including dwellings in two-family houses). Probably there were fewer occupied dwellings in 1935 than there were in 1930. Many old houses have been torn down to save tax payments, and few have been built to take their places. Others are vacant because families are unable to pay the rents demanded, or have lost properties they were buying because they were unable to continue payments.

Rents of houses and apartments in the State dropped about 30 per cent on the average in the 1930-1935 period, but the incomes of Pennsylvanians declined even more. In 1933 the average family's rent bill was about one-third of its entire income. Many fell behind in their rent payments.

Buying a house was even more difficult for most Pennsylvanians than renting, for their incomes were not sufficient to meet the high prices. Even in 1933 when property was selling at lower prices than it had in years, more than half the houses built in Philadelphia cost at least $5,000. Yet to pay for a $5,000 house a family must have an income of from $2,000 to $3,000 a year, and only about one-eighth of the families in the State had that much. Therefore many new houses remained empty while people who could not afford to buy or rent them continued to live in crowded and rundown buildings.

BUNNIES PLACE FOUR ON LOWER BUCKS ELEVEN

By Louis Tomlinson
The annual meeting of the Lower Bucks County coaches representing 35 schools in the conference occurred Monday night and the outcome was a selection of an All Lower Bucks County football team for 1936.

Bristol's powerful grid squad, which finished the season with a 500 percentage, placed no less than four aces on the all-star eleven. Bensalem, Langhorne and Fallsington each were honored with two places, while Newtown received one berth. Morrisville and Yardley failed to place an individual on the first team but both placed on the second squad and received honorable mention. The Bunnies failed, however, to receive a second team award but received two honorable mentions.

Big "Bill" Robinson, ace back and triple threat man of the Bensalem Owls, was honored by being selected as captain of the all-star eleven. He was a tower of strength in the Bensalem machine this past season and was one of the main reasons for the Owls' extremely successful season. He was just as good on defense as offense and could run, punt, and pass with equal skill.

The four local stars who were honored formed the backbone of the Dougherty eleven. The entire left side of the Bunny line was selected. They were Phil Carnvale, ace pass receiver at end; Carmen Gullato, husky tackle, at tackle; and Tom Profy, stellar Cardinal eleven guard. The other was none other than Harry Bauroth, sensational signal caller for the Bunnies who was also a triple threat man.

Frank Cappiello, of Fallsington, stood out at center so was awarded that position; Louis Carter received the call at the other guard position due to his excellent work all season at Bensalem; Walt Carter, captain of the Langhorne Redskins, was rightfully awarded the tackle post on the right side; the right side of the line was completed by the selection of Tomlinson of Newtown at right end. He was a stalwart on defense as well as offense. The two other backs were Wazurki of Fallsington, who captured the other halfback position through his running and passing; while McCahan, husky back of Langhorne, got the call at fullback because of his pile-driving and excellent line backing on the defense. Pidecock of Morrisville received the captainship of the second team.

At the same time Bristol was awarded the mythical championship of Bucks county by a total of 27 points over the second place Bensalem Owls. This decision was reached through the medium of the Dickinson scoring system.

Each of the eight coaches selected a first and second team with members of the first team receiving five points and those of the second three, thus the highest number of points possible for an individual was 40.

Robinson came close to that by polling 35 points, the highest any individual received, hence he was awarded as captain of the All-Stars. After each coaches' selections were compiled the total points were added with the first 22 highest being selected the all Lower Bucks County grid eleven in chronological order. Any others were honorable mentions.

This year's team is as follows with schools:

First Team	Second Team
Carnvale, Bristol	Stradling, Langhorne
Gullato, Bristol	Margherum, Morrisville
Profy, Bristol	Rond, Newtown
F. Cappiello, Falls'n	Neil, Yardley
L. Carter, Bensalem	Contuso, Newtown
W. Carter, Langhorne	S. Cappiello, Falls
Tomlinson, Newtown	Adams, Bens'n
Bauroth, Bristol	Pidecock, (C) Mor'le
Robinson, (C) Ben'm	Rothemal, Yard
Wazurki, Falls	Saney, Newtown
McCahan, Langhorne	Wilk, Ben'm

Honorable mention: Ends, Neil, Yardley; tackle, Reitzel, Morrisville; guards, Hard, Yardley; Gorman, Morrisville; centers, Mignoni, Bristol; Chapman, Langhorne; McGinley, Morrisville; backs, Phillips, Bristol; Schwind, Morrisville; McKenzie, Bensalem; Sherman, Newtown; Klein, Langhorne; Orazi, Bristol.

"RECS" AND ANDALUSIA OUT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Football fans from all over Bucks County will be on hand Sunday afternoon at Landreth's field, to witness what promises to be the football spectacle of the year, when the Andalusia Green Wave tangle with the Bristol Recs.

The Recs and the Wave have been pointing for this game, and with the exceptions of a few minor injuries, both teams will be at their full strength for the opening whistle.

Fans are still talking about the game played by these two teams last year on Leedom's field, when in the last quarter, with the score 6-0 against the locals, "Eddie" Roe, surrounded by a host of tacklers, jumped high in the air to snare a forward pass from Gige Dougherty and fell over the goal line for a touch-down and the six points that meant a tie, retaining the championship.

But coach Joe Diamanti says this is another year, and a good one for Andalusia.

In the absence of 'Georgie' Brother, Dom Dougherty took over the reins last night when the Recs went through their paces at the practice field, giving them some defensive formations that he believes will offset the tremendous driving power of the Green Wave. After a lay-off of two weeks, the squad is in excellent shape and "rarin' to go."

The game is definitely on, rain or shine, snow or sleet. They are out to keep the championship. Another practice session is scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

executive session in Newtown, at the home of Mrs. Emma S. Woodman. Readings included one by Miss Jane Rogers, telling of the victory in Oklahoma, when the dry law was retained by a majority of approximately 125,000. A reading by Miss Mary J. Haines was a clipping from a recent issue of a Philadelphia newspaper, quoting Mrs. Loretta Blankenburg, who said "The liquor traffic in this highly mechanized age is a greater menace than ever before," and Senator Sheppard of Texas was quoted, he telling that the increase of crime since repeal has necessitated the building of seven new jails at a cost of $4,000,000.

The million dollar campaign being conducted by the W. C. T. U. for educational purposes is honor of the centenary of Frances Willard was told of on the list of sponsors for the fund are many notable people, among them: Dr. Chevalier Jackson; Florence Dibert, former president of the Women's Federation of Clubs; Dr. Wilfred Grenfell; and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

A quantity of food was received from members for use of the needy. Others wishing to make such donations may leave goods at 601 Radcliffe street, the home of Miss Martha C. Hughes, within the next 10 days. Refreshments were enjoyed.

causable. "Your own friends, who were with you, failed to appear in court. You may have had punishment enough, but the public would not understand. If you had not the good reputation your character witnesses indicated, you would get quite a long sentence," said Judge Boyer.

Martin Luther Sharp, of Shelly, who was convicted of assault and battery in the "Silver Star" road house by a jury a few days ago, was sentenced by Judge Boyer to pay the costs of prosecution and serve not less than two months nor more than one year in the County Prison.

Sharp became enraged and committed an assault on Mr. Flemming when he saw white and colored people dancing in the roadhouse near Quakertown, it is alleged.

Mrs. Sharp testified her husband has been a patient at various mental hospitals and may be entered at Coatesville when the hospital can accommodate him.

Antonio Lombardo, Bristol barber, 34, who served slightly more than two months on a rape charge, was granted a parole by Judge Boyer. The costs were placed when application for the parole was made.

The defendant was placed on probation for two years with Russo as probation officer. Lombardo was the third member of a trio of Bristol youths who attacked atrociously a Langhorne girl, who was partly blind.

Last week firemen were greatly handicapped because of a lack of a sufficient water supply. Owners of many properties throughout the county during the past few years have been constructing reservoirs, from which water can be taken in case of fire. Many of these reservoirs during the past six weeks have almost been depleted of their water supply but as a result of the rain most of them have enough water in them to give the property owners protection against fire losses for at least several weeks.

During the past week it was learned that a property owner in the vicinity of Lahaska is building a large reservoir, and when it is completed it will afford protection to at least seven properties in the community.

to negotiate for the tests with a Trenton chemist.

Sumner said that it was reliably told to him that there was a tendency for the bacilli to infest raw water in greater numbers at this time of year, and that the filtration may have failed on that account. He declared, too, that a heavy rain after a dry spell generally increased the coli germ to a great extent in water supplies.

One person who said he did not share the alarm of many in the borough is Councilman Charles C. Young. He said he doubted the water was entirely to blame for the dysentery outbreak, and pointed to the fact that he knew of cases in the borough in families that did not drink Morrisville water, getting their supply from bottled spring water. He said he didn't think the borough had anything serious to worry about.

Dr. Ellin, however, did not agree with Mr. Young. He told the councilmen the best policy was "playing safe," because no one knows where this may lead." He said that until further notice, he would advise all water users to continue to boil their supply. Dr. Ellin, it was pointed out, has authority to demand the borough to shut off its water until such time as its purity is guaranteed.

Recommendations for study of plans for an "adequate plant" to provide Morrisville's water were made to Borough Council by Mayor Thomas B. Stockham.

Council, sitting in regular monthly session, heard the mayor's plea after brief excursions into the realm of quantitative and qualitative chemistry. No action was taken on Stockham's proposal. As a matter of fact, one member of council declared he did not think the borough had any worry on its hands in its heavily germ-infested water supply.

Mayor Stockham, twice a victim of typhoid fever, said he was especially well aware of the dangers of a contaminated water supply, and said Morrisville's predicament, despite any other solutions that may be advanced, was strictly one of an inadequate plant.

"Considering the seriousness of the situation," said the mayor, "it behooves council to seek information concerning construction of a new filtration plant. The situation demands that such a study be made just as soon as is consistent. I am certain such a plant can be built within our means."

Earlier in the meeting, Dr. Victor B. Ellin, Morrisville's Board of Health physician, declared "God's been very kind in not giving us an outbreak of typhoid instead of the condition we have." Dr. Ellin said he believed that at least half of the borough is or has been suffering from a peculiar intestinal ailment during the past two weeks.

Health authorities concurred in the belief that the borough's potable water was the cause of the epidemic, which in most cases had all the symptoms of
